for
Idaho Panhandle National Forests, Idaho

Attachment A: Recreation Residence Data Sheets

Stephan E. Matz
Idaho Panhandle National Forests
December 17, 2008

Data Sheet Explanation

The attached data sheets provide individual information on the recreation residence lots regarding their construction history, National Register of Historic Places eligibility (<http://www.nps.gov/history/nr/index.htm>), available documentation and structural alterations. The data sheets provide information that complements the “Summary of Recreation Residence National Register of Historic Places Eligibility and Management Recommendations for Idaho Panhandle National Forests, Idaho” (Recreation Residence Overview found at http://www.fs.fed.us/ipnf/rec/heritage/historic_preservation/priest_lake_rec_res/pl_rec_residence_overview.pdf) as required by the “Programmatic Agreement among the Idaho Panhandle National Forests and Idaho Historic Preservation Office regarding Recreation Residence Management on the Idaho Panhandle National Forests”.

The data sheets are arranged by tract in alphabetical order and lot designation (i.e., Fish Bay 387, Fish Bay 388, Garfield Bay 1...). Home owners or FS managers can page through the document to the correct lot and find information necessary to understand their responsibilities for managing recreation residences and lots under the National Historic Preservation Act.

The data sheets are split into five sections:

➤ Designations

- ✓ Lot Designation is the Forest Service number assigned to the individual lot for Special Use management, such as Garfield Bay 1 or Ledgewood 399. Home owners and FS managers should use this designation when applying for project review.
- ✓ FS Number is the designation assigned by the Forest Archaeologist to represent the historic or archaeological resources found within the lot.
- ✓ Smithsonian Number is the designation given by the State of Idaho to represent the historic or archaeological resources found within the lot.

➤ Construction History and Detail

- ✓ Lot Permitted is the date noted in the Forest Service special uses files for when the lot was created. If there is no date, no information exists.
- ✓ Residence Constructed is the date in the Forest Service special uses files or provided by the residence owner for when the existing residence was constructed.
- ✓ Construction Type describes how the main residence was constructed (i.e., frame, log, post and beam, etc.).
- ✓ Property Subtype describes which Group, from one through seven, that the main residence belongs to. The Groups are fully described in the “Recreation Residence Historic Context for Eight National Forests in USDA-Region 1 Idaho Panhandle National Forest Montana” [sic] (IPNF Recreation Residence Context found at http://www.fs.fed.us/ipnf/rec/yourplace/summerhomes/general_info/final_ipnf_report_2006.pdf) and Recreation Residence Overview. Also refer to Table 1 for more information on each group type.

- ✓ Primary Period is the initial period that identifies when the designation of the lot or construction of the residence occurred. There are four significant periods:
 - Early Period from 1906 to 1915 when the recreation residence program was first started;
 - Term Occupancy Period from 1915 to 1932 when the recreation residence program began to come into its own;
 - New Deal Period from 1933 to 1942 when the Works Progress Administration and Civilian Conservation Corp programs were instrumental in constructing recreation developments across the National Forests; and
 - Post World War II Period from 1945 to 1960 was the transition period from the earlier construction styles to today's modern residences.
- ✓ Secondary Period allows for more than one of the historic periods described above to be used.
- ✓ Roof Shape describes the characteristic shape of the roof line (i.e., gable, intersecting gable, hip, shed and etc.)
- ✓ Roof Covering describes what the roof is covered with (i.e., metal, wood shake, wood shingle, composition shingle, rolled composition and etc.)
- ✓ Exterior Walls describes the siding material (i.e., wood shingle, clapboard, board and batten, log and etc.)
- National Register of Historic Places (NR) Determination
 - ✓ Tract Eligibility describes the status of the entire tract with respect to being eligible for listing on the National Register of Historic Places. If consultation with the Idaho State Historic Preservation Officer has been concluded the notation will be either "Eligible", the tract has the appropriate characteristics to be listed on the NR, or "Ineligible", the tract is lacking integrity or one or more characteristics necessary to be listed on the NR. This designation does not mean that the tract is actually listed on the NR, only that it meets the criteria. The FS will not list recreation residence tracts, lots or residences on the NR without residence owner's permission. If the consultation has not been concluded to date, the recommendations will be "Potentially Eligible" and "Recommended Ineligible".
 - ✓ Archaeological Eligibility refers to the potential of the lot to have archaeological remains of scientific interest. If the notation is "Eligible" or "Potentially Eligible" the lot either has documented archaeological remains or the potential to contain those remains. If "Ineligible" or "Recommended Ineligible", it does not.
 - ✓ Residence Eligibility refers to status of the main residence.
 - ✓ 2nd House Eligibility refers to any structures that may be characterized as additional living quarters. In some cases these structures are the original cabins on the lot and in others they are conversions that were not obviously garages, sheds or other structures. If after the conversion the original function of the structure could still be determined it was noted as a garage, shed or etc. instead of a 2nd House.

- ✓ Garage Eligibility refers to those structures which are obviously meant to house vehicles.
- ✓ Shed Eligibility refers to any small outbuilding meant for storage. In some cases it was difficult to identify what the building was used for and it usually ended up in this category.
- ✓ Woodshed Eligibility refers to any small outbuilding meant for storing wood. In most cases these were shed roofed structures with one or more open sides, although in some cases they were converted from other uses to woodsheds, including storage sheds and even residences.
- ✓ Outhouse Eligibility refers to any small building that was used primarily as a toilet building. In some cases the outhouse and storage shed were combined into a single building. In other cases the outhouse was a converted storage shed or root cellar. In all cases where it was clear there was another primary use the building was noted within those categories, rather than in the outhouse category. If the outhouse has been converted to a storage space or other use, but still could be identified as an outhouse it was characterized in this category.
- Attached Documentation/Alterations
 - ✓ Other Plans is checked if modern construction or modification plans were found in the special use files.
 - ✓ Survey is checked if either cadastral survey files or other maps of the lot were found in the special uses files.
 - ✓ Porch was checked if a porch was noted on the primary residence.
 - ✓ Photos was checked if there were photos in the special uses files or photos were taken during the 2005 or 2007 field surveys.
 - ✓ Additions is checked if one or more extra rooms were constructed onto the original residence.
 - ✓ Original Plans refers to any early building plans for the original residence or outbuildings that were found in the special uses files.
 - ✓ Deck was checked if a deck has been added to the residence.
 - ✓ Field Visit Date refers to the last time the Forest Archaeologist visited the lot to record the buildings for this project.
- Comment provides a place to make additional comments about the condition of the residence, outbuildings or archaeological potential.

The data sheets are only an interim step in the National Historic Preservation Act recordation process. The information may be changed as errors are found or reported to the Forest Archaeologist or additional surveys and consultation are completed. Ultimately, each lot will have a State of Idaho Historic Building Form completed for it that will be filed at the IPNF Forest Headquarters and the State of Idaho Historic Preservation Office (see <http://www.idahohistory.net/shpo.html#anchor269777> for forms). Where archaeological materials are found a State of Idaho Archaeological Site Form will be completed and also placed on file. If there are any questions or comments on the data sheets homeowners should contact the local Ranger District, Forest Special Uses Staff for Recreation Residences or Forest Archaeologist.
