

The Forest Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, is responsible for federal leadership in forestry. It carries out this role through four main activities:

Protection and management of resources on 191 million acres of National Forest lands;

Cooperation with State and local governments, forest industries, and private landowners to help protect and manage non-Federal forest land and associated range and watershed lands;

Participation with other agencies in human resource and community assistance programs to improve living conditions in rural areas; and

Research on all aspects of forestry, rangeland management, and forest resources utilization.

The Pacific Southwest Research Station represents the research branch of the Forest Service in the states of California and Hawaii and the U.S. affiliated Pacific Islands.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) prohibits discrimination in all its programs and activities on the basis of race, age, disability, political beliefs, sexual orientation, and marital or family status. (Not all prohibited bases apply to all programs.) Persons with disabilities who require alternate means for communications of program information (Braille, large print, audiotape, etc.) should contact USDA's TARGET Center at (202) 720-2600 (voice and TDD).

To file a complaint of discrimination write USDA, Director of Civil Rights, Room 326-W, Whitten Building, 14th and Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20250-9410 or call (202) 720-5964 (voice or TDD). USDA is an equal opportunity provider and employer.

USDA is committed to making its information materials accessible to all USDA customers and employees.
