

Clean Slate Restoration

The Clean Slate Ecosystem Management Project identified roads to be removed from the National Forest transportation system through decommissioning.

Total cost for this project was estimated at $330,000. Work was planned to be contracted in 2005 and completed in 2006.

Funding is being provided from three sources. Pacific Coast Salmon Restoration funds received thru a partnership with the Nez Perce Tribe, and funded thru the Idaho State Office of Species Conservation.

The contract was awarded in September to a local contractor. Work is expected to begin this fall.
