Grand River District Ranger accepts detail to Chugach National Forest

LEMMON, SD. – Joby Timm, Grand River District Ranger, has accepted a detail as Deputy Forest Supervisor on the Chugach National Forest. Timm’s detail may last up to one year and is based in Anchorage, Alaska. Timm has served as District Ranger in Lemmon, South Dakota, for four years. The Grand River Ranger District is part of the U.S. Forest Service Dakota Prairie Grasslands.

Tonya Weisbeck, Supervisory Interdisciplinary Range/Wildlife Specialist on the Fort Pierre National Grasslands in Fort Pierre, South Dakota, has been named the Acting District Ranger. Weisbeck is originally from Nebraska, began her career with the U.S. Forest Service as a Range/Wildlife Specialist on the Buffalo Gap National Grassland in Wall, South Dakota. She has extensive experience with multiple-use natural resource concerns, especially range management issues.

Weisbeck will begin working on the Grand River Ranger District July 5. She will be stationed in Lemmon, South Dakota.
