

Sharp-tailed Grouse Viewing Opportunity

Moquah Barrens

Chequamegon-Nicolet National Forest

This spring the US Forest Service will open their observation blind to the public for the chance to participate in their annual Sharp-tailed Grouse survey on the Moquah Barrens.

The blind will be set up near a Sharp-tailed Grouse display ground, or lek, to observe the gathering of grouse during the competitive mating displays of the male "Sharpies."

When: April 20 to May 9, 2009

Time: 1 hour before and 1-2 hours after sunrise
