

CHAPTER 4- LIST OF PREPARERS

The following individuals are primarily responsible for developing the analysis and the document. They are not listed in any particular order.

John Calabrese

Position: Forest Archeologist

Education: B.A., Latin American Studies, The College of the University of Chicago; M.A., Anthropology, University of Kentucky; PhD, Archaeology, University of the Witwatersrand (Johannesburg, South Africa)

Experience: 3 years with private archaeological consulting firms, US Northeast and Middle Atlantic; 5 years as university Lecturer, concurrent with five years as private archaeological consultant, southern Africa; 5 years with USDA, Forest Service, Archeologist

Contribution: Heritage Resources

Kent Karriker

Position: Botanist/Ecologist

Education: B.S. Fisheries and Wildlife Sciences, North Carolina State University; M.S. Wildlife Biology, North Carolina State University

Experience: 3 years USDA Forest Service as a Wildlife Biologist; 10 years with a private consulting firm as a Biological Technician, Biologist, Project Manager, and Senior Scientist

Contribution: Ecological and botany Resources

O'Dell Tucker

Position: South Zone NEPA Coordinator

Education: B.S. in Forest Management, West Virginia University, M.S. in Forestry West Va. University (Minor emphasis in Forest Policy)

Experience: 6 Years Forest Service, 4 Years NEPA Analyst/Coordinator, 10 Years Private Consulting Forester and Westvaco Paper Company

Contribution: NEPA Review

Thomas Cain

Position: Fisheries Biologist
Education: B.S. Fisheries Science, Oregon State University
Experience: 25 years USDA Forest Service as a Fisheries Biologist
Contribution: Team Leader/Aquatic Resources

Jim McCormick

Position: Wildlife Biologist
Education: B.S. Wildlife Sciences, Frostburg State University; M.S. in Biology, Stephen F. Austin State Univ.; Published Peer Reviewed Articles
Experience: 6 Years USDA FS, Wildlife Biologist; 2 Years USDI, FWS; 2 Years Private Wildlife Biologist Consultant
Contribution: Wildlife Resources

Stephanie Connolly

Position: Forest Soil Scientist
Education: B.S. Agronomy, West Virginia University; M.S. Agronomy with an Emphasis in Soil Chemistry, Colorado State University
Experience: 1 year Pocahontas County Economic Development Authority-Floodplain Mitigation Coordinator; 3 years with USDA Natural Resource Conservation Service, Soil Survey Division (Idaho and North Carolina); 6 years with USDA Forest Service, Forest Soil Scientist
Contribution: Soil Resources

Patricia Felton

Position: GIS Cartographer
Education: B.S. Forest Resource Management and Horticulture, Va. Polytechnical Institute and State University
Experience: 11 years USDA Forest Service as GIS Cartographer, 7 years as USDA FS Forester
Contribution: GIS

Tim Henry

Position: Zone Recreation Biologist

Education: B.S. Forest Management, University of Wisconsin, Stevens Point

Experience: 31 years USDA Forest Service as Timber and Recreation
Management

Contribution: Recreation and Scenery