* Includes land defined as “forest” and “woodland” in (Oswalt et al. 2014). Forest land is defined as “land at least 120 feet (37 meters) wide and at least 1 acre (0.4 hectare) in size with at least 10 percent cover (or equivalent stocking) by live trees including land that formerly had such tree cover and that will be naturally or artificially regenerated” including land “recently having such conditions and currently regenerating or capable of attaining such condition in the near future.” Woodland is defined as land that is “predominantly of stands of sparse woodland species...found in the arid to semiarid regions of the interior western United States. These areas must span more than 1 acre (0.4 hectare), have sparse trees capable of achieving 16.4 feet (5 meters) in height in situ, and a tree canopy cover of 5-10 percent.” Neither forest land nor woodland includes “land that is predominantly under agricultural or urban land use.”

** Excludes Alaska, Arizona, Idaho, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah, and Wyoming due to small sample sizes.

*** See Table 9 in Butler et al. (2016a) for the specific inventory years of the U.S. Forest Service, Forest Inventory and Analysis program (www.fia.fs.fed.us) plot data used for forest area estimates.

<sup>b</sup> Includes nongovernmental conservation organizations, unincorporated partnerships, associations, and clubs.
