

Potosi Ranger District Native Pollinator Garden Mark Twain National Forest 2011 Accomplishments

This was a continuation of the pollinator garden established at the Potosi Ranger Station in 2010. Funds were used to purchase an interpretive pollinator panel for the garden. Funds also were used to purchase additional native flowering plants for the garden.

Monarchs utilized the milkweeds in the garden for breeding.

Interpretive panel will be erected in late Fall 2011.
